Comprehension:

Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow.
Leadership does not exist without followership. A leader has to be accepted by the group which the former is supposed to lead. To gain acceptability, the leader should cause an emotive impact on the group members. The strength of character exhibited by leaders makes them dear to their followers. A leader is one who effectively inspires followers to achieve worthwhile things. What character of the leader motivates the followers? It is not pomp and show, neither flattery nor sanctioning more incentives. Pomp and show creates a sense of awe and the leader is deified rather as emulated. Flattery is unrealistic and cannot serve as a long-term motivational tool. A leader's style should be one that can be emulated by all irrespective of cadre, class and calibre. Simplicity in one's day- to- day conduct is the only thing that can be adopted by all.

Comprehension:

Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow.

In 1888, an Atlantic contributor made the case for a "science of names."

"Parents are strangely careless and unscientific in giving names to children," the contributor complained. "They forget that not only from the social point of view it is very advantageous to have one's name remembered, but that from the business point of view notoriety is capital, and must be obtained by persistent and ingenious advertising." Indeed, the contributor argued, a good name will give a child "a start in life equivalent to a cash capital of at least fifteen thousand dollars." One way to ensure this head start? "Be guided by euphonic quality only."

Although not all of this contributor's guidance can or should still apply today, the importance of a name to a child's identity has stayed front of mind for many parents. A name can determine whether a child fits in or stands out—and many parents differ on which of those outcomes is preferable.

Comprehension:

Read the given passage and answer the questions that follow.

In 1888, an Atlantic contributor made the case for a “science of names.”

“Parents are strangely careless and unscientific in giving names to children,” the contributor complained. “They forget that not only from the social point of view it is very advantageous to have one’s name remembered, but that from the business point of view notoriety is capital, and must be obtained by persistent and ingenious advertising.” Indeed, the contributor argued, a good name will give a child “a start in life equivalent to a cash capital of at least fifteen thousand dollars.” One way to ensure this head start? “Be guided by euphonic quality only.”
